Press Release for Business Page

Visiting Angels, a private-duty homecare company, has relocated from Littleton to 498 Great Road, Acton as of November 1st. The company provides non-medical homecare including companionship, personal hygiene care, and homemaking services by certified home health aides or certified nurse assistants to seniors and adults who want to continue to live in their own homes. Visiting Angels serves the towns from Lexington to Lancaster and Tyngsboro to Stow.

The company is owned by Karen and Tony Rivero of Acton since 2007. They found the company when they were looking for care for Karen's parents, and decided that this is what they wanted to do. Their research showed that a rapidly aging population, coupled with the rising costs of nursing home care and depleted retirement funds, has created an urgent need for in-home elderly care.

"We were attracted to the business by the opportunity to do something good for others. The franchisor has been a wonderful source of training and support about how to best serve our clients, many of whom are facing difficult personal issues. Our job is to lessen their burden, provide their families with peace of mind, and offer a way to let Mom or Dad continue to live in the home they have grown to love over the years".

Visiting Angels of Acton is a member of the Middlesex West Chamber of Commerce, Home Care Alliance of Massachusetts, and Liberty Alzheimer's Partnership. Visiting Angels has 15 offices in Massachusetts and 500 offices throughout the United States and Canada. For more information, contact Visiting Angels at 498 Great Rd., P.O.
